Announcement

The Canaveral Council of Technical Societies (CCTS), announces the
2nd. Space Visions Symposium

The purpose of these symposia is to bring together people interested in what may be achieved in space in the next ten to fifty years.

When: September 4th. and 5th. 2025

Where: The Beachside Hotel and Suites, Cocoa Beach, Florida 32931.

Theme: Impacts of Human requirements on Space Systems design

The second symposium addresses the way in which human needs can be satisfied and how those needs drive the design requirements for space systems. The second symposium is a two-track event set up as follows:

Track1:

Technology: Impacts of human requirements on the size, design and construction of vehicles and other structures.

Track 2:

Human factors: Addresses the architecture of living spaces, personal, work and common spaces, psychological issues, space medicine, safety and social concerns.

The "Call for Papers" will be issued on the 1st. November 2024 with Abstracts due on 15th. January 2025. Announcement of acceptance will be on 31st. January 2025 with completed Papers due by 30th. June 2025.
